MAMMOTH CORN .- Our friend Dr. J. E. MAN-LOVE has laid upon our table five ears of corn his lungs. The deseased was a young man of -the largest fice ears we believe we have ever seen together. They were grown upon his farm on White's creek. The grain is yellow, large and plump, and one of the ears, which left a fortune of £3,500,000 sterling, which will be we have counted, numbers about 800 grains. Dr. M. informs us that there are hundreds of ears on his farm quite as large and fine, and that the corn-crop in the White's creek valley generally, will be unusually productive the present season-equal, he supposes, to the whole product of the three last seasons. The Doctor, who is a very successful farmer, attributes the extraordinary yield on his own fields, in a considerable degree, to deep ploughing. He first ploughed deeply, and then cross-plonghed, nearly the whole of his corn-

FINE APPLES. - A friend has handed us some fine specimens of Winter Apples from the Orchard of Rev. Tolbert Fanning, Franklin College. In point of size they exceed anything we have seen this season.

Francisco's Hat and Cap Emporium.

The fall style of hats was introduced by Francisco on Saturday last, and for beauty and symmetry stand unrivalled. Francisco bas been in the Eastern cities for several weeks past, during which time he has not only posted himself in all the late and new styles introduced, but has purchased a large stock, embracing every thing in the line of hats, caps, &co., "Brown and Pearl Albenis," &c., and those in the greatest demand are the "brownest of the Brown," which are "going off like hot cakes," The ladies will find goods, rich and beautiful, at this house, such as riding hats, children's hats, caps, &c. Country Merchants are invited to call and examine the large stock of HARDWARE. goods, in the ware-rooms, snited to the fall trade. Orders for hats attended to promptly -nsing none but the best material in his manufacture, and employing the best workmen-enterprising gentlemen are in receipt of their fall and winter stock of goods for gentlemen, which they will take pleasure in making up to order. They also keep a large assortment of ready made clothing on hand, to which they invite the attention of the public. At their store a gentleman's wardrobe can be supplied with every thing needful.

GRAPE CULTURE.-Mr. CAMUSE, a practical vinter from France, has been experimenting for four years in the culture of grape in this TEN of Culp's Portable Cider Mills for sale by D. D. Dickey, State. His vineyard is situated about ten miles from the city, on the Nolensville turnwike. Our attention was called to some speciprike. Our attention was called to some speci-mens of his vines and grapes on exhibition at building, with cellar, dining-room, kitchen, and all necess the Court House on Saturday. Mr. C. has sty out buildings. Any one wishing a comfortable residence and one convenient to the business part of the city, should practically, and beyond a doubt, demonstrated make immediate the adaptedness of grape culture to our soil and climate, and is prepared to show that this important branch of horticulture can be prosocuted with great profit. He is prepared at any time to give instructions and afford faciliities to all who may wish to experiment. We commend the subject to the attention of our farmers. Most of them have an acre or more of rocky land, valueless for other purposes, which is peculiarly valuable for growing the

THE NASHVILLE TRUE

Wheat-The Railroad. We have been politely furnished by our friend Mr. J. H. Deverenux, with the following facts in regard to the amount of wheat sent forward from the depot at this place, by our Railroad. From June 9th to August 26, there were sent off 23,000 bushels, which, at 80c per bushel, would nett $18,000. In addition to this a large quanity has been sent forward from Thompson's station since the road was opened to that place; and a good deal has found its way to Nashville by wagon, from this county a lew miles north of this. It is safe to assume that more than thirty thousand bushels have been sold in this county, and still it continues to come in, though not so freely as it did awhile back .- Franklin Re-

Morgan & Co's Wholesale Dry Goods House. On Saturday last, for the first time since its comepletion, we took a look through this large and capacious house. The building of itself, towering as it does far above all others, is attractive, and speaks well for the real and permanent growth of our beautiful city. The house has been constructed with a view to furnish ample room for storing and displaying goods in a systematic manner. In fact the whole interior of the building has been planned and executed, with an eye single to completeness and adaptation to the general routine of business, in a manner more perfect, with less trouble both to buyer and seller, than any similar "institution" we have before examined. The goods are all arranged in systematic order, from higher to lower grades, and each department of the mammoth establishment is appropriated for a different kind of fabric, thus enabling the purchaser to make his selections with ease and comfort and in an expeditious manner. He passes from one department to another, from one story to another, deposits his purchases in the bins as he proceeds, and when through his goods are "gathered together" by a porter, returned to the packing department and made ready for it to all. shipment-all just as easy. The internal arrangements for the preservation of fine white goods from dust are excellent and appropriate, rendering the labor of a salesman light in their exhibition. Their present stock is large and complete, embracing everything necessary to make full selections from. They have collected together as great a variety of foreign and domestic, staple and fancy goods as can be found in any jobbing house in the eastern cities. Their stock of dress goods for ladies and gentlemen will attract particular atten-

We have long since shown, to a demonstration, that our wholesale merchants in Nashville can not only furnish our Country Merchants with their stock of goods, at a better advantage than by going east, but by buying here they make money by the operation .-Many of our merchants are willing to duplicate any bill filled in the eastern cities, transportation and exchange added. We therefore say to our friends in the surrounding country, come and try our merchants and see what can be done, believing, as we firmly do, they can
